

October // 18

A banner image with a dark background. On the left, the word "ENGELSMANN" is written in large, white, bold, sans-serif capital letters. Below it, the word "NEWS" is written in a smaller, white, bold, sans-serif font, preceded by two red slanted parallel lines. The background is a dark, textured surface with a blue and red color gradient and a subtle circular pattern.

ENGELSMANN // NEWS

Dear readers,

After a sunny summer break, we are reporting back to you once again today with exclusive news and tips from the expert world of bulk solids processes:

First of all, we're looking ahead to show you how you can visit us for free at SOLIDS at the beginning of November. Things then start getting profitable for all screening machine operators, because we've got an attractive money-saving tip up our sleeves. Find out how to get to grips with fatty, sticky products when screening in a case study from the candy manufacturing industry.

- » SOLIDS 2018: Come and See – for Free!
- » Exclusive for you: Re-Screening at a Low Price
- » No Cakewalk: Separating the Sweet Stuff

We wish you happy reading.

Your Engelsmann team

SOLIDS 2018: Come and See – for Free!

November 7th and 8th should already be marked in thick, red marker on your calendars. An important industry get-together for bulk solids experts is taking place in Dortmund in the form of the SOLIDS trade fair.

Engelsmann's trade fair crew will be there once again. And, same as last year, our SOLIDS team is looking forward to exchange information with you, as well as to present you with our latest solutions from the fields of screening technology and big bag handling.

You are warmly invited to visit our stand, E23-4. We recommend that you snap up your free entrance ticket right away. We look forward to your visit.

» Recommend article

» Ticket Registration

Exclusive for you: Re-Screening at a Low Price

Even the best screens begin to sag at some point. However, a screen with perfect tension is a prerequisite for clear-cut screening – and this can only be guaranteed through re-screening. Thanks to the promotion created exclusively for the readers of “Engelsmann News”, the decision to get your machine re-screened should be an easy one.

To this end, all orders made with Engelsmann until October 31st, 2018 will receive:

a 20% discount on all standard screen inserts up to 2 mm

a 20% discount on our Testing Protocol

Simply contact our service manager, Marco Didone, to take part in the promotion – either by phone (+49(0)621 59002-300) or via email.

» Recommend article

» Contact

No Cakewalk: Separating the Sweet Stuff

When you taste cocoa, e.g. in the form of chocolate, endorphins are released. However, when it comes to screening machine operators, the sight of cocoa more probably releases stress hormones. This is because sieving this product is anything but easy:

Thanks to its extremely high fat content, cocoa has a tendency to bridge, thus clogging the screen. Loading the product into the machine and getting it out again is also a difficult task due to the fact that the powder remains stuck to the inner walls instead of simply flowing off.

Find out how you can solve these problems through the use of specially-developed screening technology by means of an application example.

» Recommend article

» More Information

Follow the link to our product portfolio:

» Screening technology

» Mixing technology

» Big bag systems

» Additional products

If you would like to stop receiving our newsletter, unsubscribe here. We will then immediately remove your e-mail address from the mailing list. Except for basic connection charges, you will not be charged for this.